

POLICE ADVICE TO MEMBERS OF THE PUBLIC
SEEKING INFORMATION ON SECURITY COMPANIES (APPENDIX H)

When investing in Security Systems for your home or business it is not advisable to deal with cold callers or telesales enquiries – you should avoid doing doorstep or telephone business. Many traders who call at your door are honest and genuine, however, some are not and can be extremely persuasive. Examples of bad practices associated with cold-calling and door-step selling include - pressure selling, waiving your rights to a cooling off period, unclear contracts, overpriced security systems and unduly raising the fear of crime.

Please be advised there are security companies advising consumers that police no longer respond to alarm activations. This statement is incorrect.

To obtain information on companies who supply and install security systems such as Intruder Alarms / Hold-Up Alarms / CCTV systems etc., within your locality, we advise you contact the following Independent Inspectorate Bodies who will furnish you with the relevant details (the police are not able to provide this information):-

NSI (National Security Inspectorate)

Independent Inspectorates are not-for-profit approval bodies who carry out inspection services for the security industry and protect customer interests. They are governed by UKAS (United Kingdom Accreditation Service), the sole accreditation service recognised by the Government.

Please note - if you are also planning to invest in the type of security system that would receive police response to its alarm activations, then only security companies 'Approved' by an Independent Inspectorate Body and who are listed with Avon and Somerset Constabulary are permitted to offer this service.

Once you have obtained details from an Independent Inspectorate Body of 'approved' security companies, who install security systems in your locality to the required European/British Standards we advise the following :-

- (a) Check the address and credentials of the company and proof of identify from their representative before disclosing personal security details
- (b) Obtain written quotations from at least two 'approved' security companies.
- (c) Ask if the security company representative can provide you with a list of police rules for occupiers of 'monitored' alarmed premises and also written confirmation that they are currently registered with the police force in your area for the transmission of alarm activations from new installations.
- (d) Ensure that the quotation specifies that the installation will be to current European/British Standards for that relevant security system and that it includes the terms of maintenance and monitoring contracts.
- (e) Ensure the company operate a 24-hour call-out service and emergency attendance within four hours.

POLICE ADVICE TO MEMBERS OF THE PUBLIC
SEEKING INFORMATION ON SECURITY COMPANIES (APPENDIX H)

- (f) Check that the installation and security company is acceptable to your insurance company.
- (g) Avoid long term monitoring contracts and only pay for one year in advance.
- (h) Terms which transfer inappropriate risks to consumers may be unfair and the Office of Fair Trading (OFT) have suggested that one kind of risk that should not be unfairly imposed on the consumer is that of the suppliers own insolvency. This may occur where the purchase price of goods or services, or a large part of it, is demanded substantially earlier than is needed to cover the supplier's costs. Such a prepayment assists the cash flow of the supplier, but is liable to be lost to the consumer if the business is wound up before completion of the contract.

If members of the public have doubts about the legality or sales techniques being employed by any security company they should contact their local police or Trading Standards for advice.
